Loved by developers globally and across industries

Prisma has a low learning curve. Productivity becomes higher because it gets combined with end-to-end type-safety using TypeScript.

I love how Prisma makes my life as a developer so easy. The TypeScript autocompletion is the best I've used, having tried many different ORMs. The migrations are a breeze. And I love how easy it is to get a full view of your database from the Prisma schema file. It's all in one place in readable format.

Imagine never typing out a migration again. Yeah, that's basically what Prisma does for you. Has saved me literal hours of time, and can for you too.
